HOW THE TABBY CAT GOT ITS NAME

NO doubt many of you own a tabby cat. Do you know how it came by its name?

The word "tabby" is of Eastern origin and means "The Silken One." It is derived from "attabi," a kind of taffeta or ribbed silk which was manufactured in Bagdad.

One day, so the legend goes, a merchant was looking at the material and compared the bars and horseshoes on it with the stripes on a cat's coat, and from that time all brindled and striped cats became known as tabbies.

Tabbies of many colourings are to be found among household pets but probably the most beautiful is the silver tabby, which has a coat of pale, clear silver with dense black markings. The brown tabby is another striking and hardy cat.

The most familiar is the grey cat with transversal stripes encircling the legs, tail, and neck, and black markings on the body. Before the word "tabby" was generally adopted this cat was known as the tiger cat or "graymalkin," whereas the yellow and ginger tabbies were called Cyprus cats.

Most tabby cats are very handsome and intelligent. They are good-tempered and friendly too.

Their coats are not easily spoiled by rain or sunshine, so they can live a free and open-air life which suits them well. They are excellent mousers.

Passed away Dec. 11, 1979

Aged 17 years

- ① ~~On Sunday~~ He aged considerably the past year and became incontinent. He also showed signs of kidney disease (appetite, thirst, etc.)
- ② On Sunday evening I was moved to spend a whole hour with him, talking and playing with him. (I am glad now that I did). He was receptive but lethargic.
- ③ On Monday evening he seemed OK. I petted him. Then at 8pm he fell onto his side, his leg out stiff. He panted. I fussed over him, and called in my neighbors Pam + Jim. We phoned the vet who said it was a stroke, and that ~~at~~ Riley might recover but would continue to have strokes. He said the incontinence was common in old cats.
- ④ Riley seemed to recover and slept. He did not eat. ~~Next~~ I left the heat full on. Next morning he seemed better and followed me into the kitchen but still didn't eat. (Food or water.) I picked him up and petted him but he did not purr as usual.
- ⑤ I went to work. At 11am I looked out the window and saw three seagulls flying "free of a bird." I thought of Riley — that a little creature lay dying.

(6) That afternoon during I heard him talk to me and explain his side of our relationship, that he only loved me, that I was all he had. I looked forward to seeing him.

(7) I came home at 5¹⁵ pm and found him dead. I spent four hours with him. Next morning I took him to be cremated. The body was cold and stiff. No signs of pain. I cried & grieved.

(8) He was a lovable dignified courageous little creature.

(9) That night I dreamt he was alive and I was so happy. He seemed to be choosing which box to enter but I didn't understand what was happening.

(10) I am sure he continues to exist and to remember me.

JCC SPRING DANCE—MARCH 29

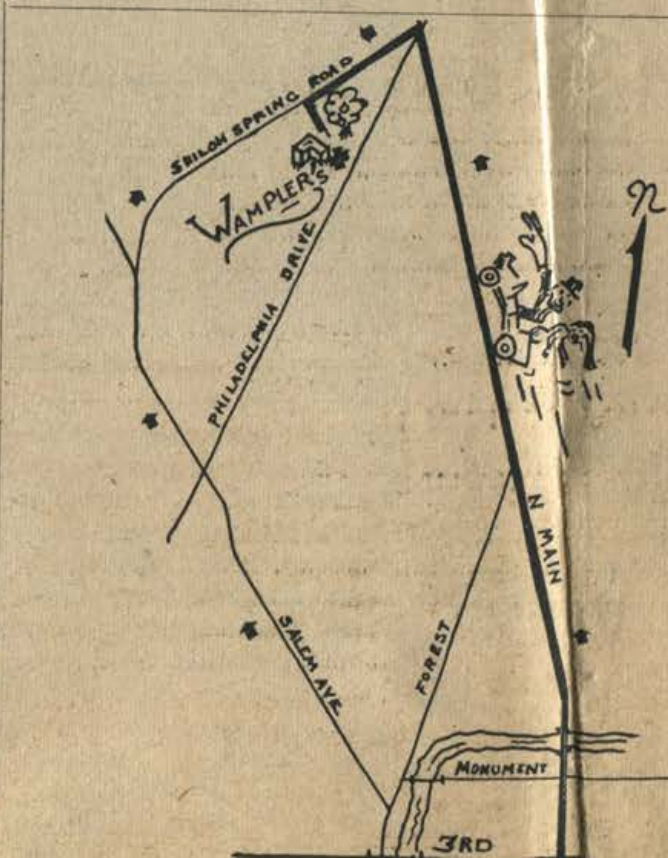

Red Cross Mercantile Division 100% Jaycee 150 Couples To Attend Frolic; Social Committee Sees S.R.O. As Reservations Begin To Mount

Bob Donnelly
Chairman's Division
With $30,935 Goal

By ROGER BROWN

March, designated nationally as Red Cross Month, is the time of the year when all Americans have the opportunity to participate in supporting the widespread activities of the Red Cross.

In 1952, as for the past several years, the Dayton Jaycees are playing an important part in this campaign. They make up the personnel of the Mercantile Division (downtown business establishments) headed this year by Bob Donnelly. This campaign differs from those of previous years in that the

They did it at Christmas. Who? Our enterprising, energizing Social Committee. They promised to do it again in the Spring. What? Why a dance, of course. A dance, you say. Mmm, that sounds interesting. Tell us about it.

Well, little kiddies, just gather around your old Uncle Jaycee, and he'll tell you about the goldarnedest opportunity you'll ever have to herald the coming of Spring.

Make your plans now! Arrange for a baby sitter if you need to. If your wife wants to buy a new dress, why let her, although it isn't necessary. Now here's the pitch, as J.T.B. used to say.

The annual Jaycee Spring Dance will be held at Wampler's Barn on Saturday night, March 29. It will be semi-formal, and dancing will continue from 9:30 until 12:30 their reservations in early. The Social Committee has made plans to accommodate 150 couples so that certain "characters" in our organization won't have to bring their own tables and chairs as they did at the Christmas dance.

Yes sir, folks, this promises to be another successful Jaycee affair. Call HE-1219 now and place your reservations. Remember, there is plenty of room for everyone so if you want to bring lots of your friends you may do so.

are including the Special Gifts (those from the firms and key executives) as well as the employee contributions in their collections. These special gifts had been collected separately heretofore. Now, one call is all that is necessary.

Team captains working with Division Chairman Donnelly are Ted Muenche, John Kohnle, Bill Kramer, Charles Young and Don Compton. Their job is to see that the quota of $30,935 is met and, if possible, oversubscribed. This quota represents a little over ten per cent of the quota for the entire campaign.

The contact or leg men in this drive include the following Jaycees: Bob Walton Jr., John Thompson, Bill Sherer, Bill LeMon, Frank McBride Jr., Ed Kuhns, Harry Edwards, Delman Clark, Howard Beck, Joseph Stansfield, John Evans, Bill James, Bob Penny, Jack Deger. Also Ted Vradis, John Koehler, Charles "Doc" Butterworth, Joe Williams, Bill Montgomery, Turner Carson, Walt Porter, John Ensley, Swiftly Frank Jr., Pat McHugh, Warren Bartlebaugh, Paul Dewey, and Jim Hall.

March 21st is the target for completing this drive. Chairman Donnelly hopes that the 384 personal contacts (13 per man) will bring the contributions "over the top" by this date.

Follow This Route For Fun Ohio JCC Bowling Tournament Comes To Dayton April 18-19

According to a rumor this reporter picked up at the last state meeting in Columbus the word is out to "Watch Dayton." And why not? Last year the Dayton Jaycees were awarded the Henry Geissner Memorial trophy for being the best Jaycee organization in Ohio. Then, in July the Ohio Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament was held here. And in January, TOYM. If that isn't an impressive record, what is?

Now we are going to be in the spotlight again when the annual Ohio Jaycee Bowling Tournament is held here on April 18 and 19.

This will be the 11th year Jaycee bowlers have gotten together toward the end of each season in order to find out what chapter has the best bowlers. The last time this tournament was in Dayton was in 1949.

Don Moeller, General Chairman of this year's tournament expects between 60 and 70 teams to be in Dayton that week-end. This means 300 to 350 "Young Men of Action" and "Exhausted Roosters" will be

Bill Miller will be tournament manager Don Hufford is handling scoring operations and he will need at least 30 local Jaycees to serve as scorekeepers. If you know how to mark a bowling sheet, call Don at AD-6111—ext. (Continued on page 4)

Numbers Attract JCC Action; Dayton Airport To Be Painted

By FRANK GAFFNEY

The Dayton Airport needs some work done which calls for your help. The compass heading numbers at the airport have faded and are hard to see from the air. Captain Herbert Moore of the Air National Guard and a fellow Jaycee has offered the aid of the Jaycee membership to repaint these numbers.

Some of our members have already been contacted and the following are ready to spend a few hours in painting: Bob Dyne, Howard Dils, Bill Nuss, Bob Mill, Don Gras, Ralph Gencer, George Wolff, Scott Cox, Bob Boatman, Jack Zimmerman, Ralph Browning and Bob Berner. The whole job will take about three Saturdays to complete. There are thirteen runway from the Jaycee Office at the very popular price of only $2.75 per couple. Music will be provided by Karl Taylor's 12-piece band.

Our two very active Jaycees, Bob Yates and Jim Wolf are co-chairmen of this dance and have worked out a program that should please all who attend. Set-ups will be provided at nominal cost.

General Chairman "Jake" Jacoby, who master-minded the highly successful Christmas dance, which was sold out two weeks in advance, cautions all Jaycees to get numbers to be repainted white. There is no back-breaking to the job because it is done with a broom-like brush, and you don't have to worry about being an artist either.

Any who want to help in this valuable work can go out any future Saturday. For that matter you can go out any day of the week if you have the time. Just see Capt. Herbert Moore, Air National Guard, North Administration Bldg., or call him at MO 4-4621.

After the job is complete, Forest Bowman, the airport manager, is going to have some refreshments for the working crew. Also in the realm of possibility are plane

Frank Rocco, vice-president of the Jaycee Recreation Committee, announced today that Bruce Smith and Bob Corbin will co-chairman a Pre-Election Mixer that will be held one week before the annual Jaycee election. The Mixer will be at the Idle Hour Club on Wednesday, April 16, at 8:30.

In years past, the annual election of Jaycee Officers and Directors has usually been promoted through caucuses and high pressure machines that identified the candidates but did not always provide the opportunity for Jaycees to meet the candidates personally.

Special Luncheon Friday, March 28

The Past Presidents' Luncheon, which is open to all former Jaycees and Exhausted Roosters, will be held on Friday, March 28, at the Biltmore Hotel. Luncheon will be served at 12:15.

All Jaycees are urged to attend this affair and join us in paying tribute to the men who, as President Bob Constant says, "laid the foundation for a solid, progressive Jaycee movement in Dayton."

This is our chance to show these men that we are thankful for their past efforts in leading Dayton's most unique organization.

Jaycees Working Toward Better Human Relations

By ROGER D. LAIB

Human relations is a subject of increasingly greater importance in any progressive city such as Dayton. A city in order to prosper must have an understanding of its citizens and they with each other. The Jaycee Human Re-program at the YMCA. The Dayton Urban League directed and coordinated the activities of the forum. The program consisted of four panel discussions and was attended by members of the league and leading Dayton citizens.

April Election Nearing; No Hats In Ring--Yet!

As We Go To Press—

Better set your sights on the forthcoming Jaycee election which is only a little over a month away.

Talk has it that we'll have the first 4 man Presidential slate in Dayton Jaycee History. Boy, we really want to watch this one!

Exec. V. P. rumors are floating lighter than usual this year and at press time it appears that two Jaycees have this job in mind.

A prominent and active Jaycee already has let slip the talk that he's after the secretarial post.

Anyway, as they do in Mexico all too often what we do once a year, hats will begin to enter the ring any time.

Borrowing the much said phrase, "What'll you have?" Finest election served anywhere!

Exhausted Roosters Still Crowing

A most enjoyable dinner meeting was held Wednesday, March 5, at the Frigidaire Gun Club. Luther Borkenhagen put out one of his usual good meals, and it really was an outstanding affair.

A lot of shooting took place after the meeting. Most of it was verbal, but some of it

We Proudly Present Kenneth T. Hurst

By SWIFT FRANK, Jr.

You have probably enjoyed reading Ken Hurst's inimitable descriptions of outstanding Jaycees which appear regularly in the PILOT. In this issue, the tables have been turned and Ken is the subject instead of the author.

KENNETH T. HURST

Ken seemed so obliging when we suggested an interview that we became a little suspicious. You see, most of the folks that make these pages are quiet, unassuming young men who have to be coaxed before they will tell us anything about themselves.

Well, it didn't take us long to find out why Ken wanted to be interviewed. Apparently there is an old English custom (there always is) which constellate misfortune upon a promotion. Ken designed the letterhead on our stationery and suggested the slogan, "Young Men Making Dayton a Better City." He is active in other organizations such as the Toastmasters Club, the Dayton Advertising Club, and Sir Walter St. John's Old Boys Association. The latter is a world-wide fraternity of his college in England. Ken is a member of the Board of Directors of members. Bartlebaugh, is doing an excellent job of promoting human relations in our own community.

The first project of the Human Relations Committee for this year was to co-sponsor, with many other civic groups, the Human Relations Institute, which was held on February 12 in an all-day education as they are related to a minority group. Home builders, industrial personnel representatives, social workers, and educators presented their viewpoints in the discussions.

The committee also promoted Brotherhood Week on a city-wide basis from Feb-

Speak Up For America

Here is your chance to make a speech and win a $50 defense bond. At the January All State meeting, the Executive Committee of the Ohio JCC voted to have a Speak-Up Jaycee Contest in Ohio. Any Jaycee in the state is eligible for this program.

Its purpose is to encourage study of our system of government and to develop effective spokesmen for it.

This year Bill Slemph is chairman of the local program. All you have to do is select any one of the following subjects, or a similar subject of your own choice, and give an eight to ten minute speech on it at the regular Friday luncheon meeting on April 4."

1. "The Profit Motive."
2. "The Competitive Form of Business Enterprise."
3. "Freedom of Opportunity."
4. "The Free Price System."
5. "The Stock and Commodity Markets."
6. "Mass Production."
7. "The Freedom of Mankind."
8. "The Check and Balance System of Government."
9. "The Two Party System."
10. "The Meaning of Democracy."
11. "Our Way of Life Contrasted with Others."
12. "The Bill of Rights."
13. "The Declaration of Independence."
14. "America's Contribution to the Standard of Living of All Mankind."

Each of these subjects must be approached with a positive viewpoint, expounding the virtues and inherent characteristics of the American system. Contestants will be judged by men and women who are not members of the JCC. The winner of the local contest will compete in the area contest, and the winner of the area, in the state. The state winner will be selected at the state convention in Cleveland in May. He will receive a $50 defense bond.

but was not initiated; that comes at a later date. Bob Scheu was the man, and he reports he was greatly impressed with the ritual. He claimed he had never before witnessed anything like it in his life.

A rumor is being bandied about that plans are under way for a big party that will include the wives at which time the annual election of officers will be held. More on

Jaycees Have "Conventionitis"

One of the advantages of being a member of America's fastest growing, most unique organization, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, is the opportunity it gives you to meet other young men from all parts of the country.

Every member of the Dayton JCC is also a member of the Ohio JCC and the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. Both have annual conventions, for their officers realize an exchange of ideas among young men from different sections of the country can help to solve common problems.

The Ohio JCC is particularly active in bringing young men together. They have monthly state meetings in Columbus that are extremely popular with many of our local Jaycees. These meetings start on Saturday night with an article by and an article about the same person in the same issue. So Ken gets out of writing an article for this month's PILOT.

Kenneth T. Hurst (we think the "T" stands for "Tactful") was born and raised in London, England. He first saw the United States during the war when he was training as a pilot in the Royal Naval Air Arm. Ken liked what he saw so well that he resolved to come back one day.

After five years service as an officer on a British aircraft carrier, he received his discharge and arrived in America in 1947.

In May of 1948 he came to Dayton and hung up his hat in the offices of the Hutzler Advertising Agency. Ken is an account executive and is making a good reputation for himself and for his agency.

While discussing civic organizations and the responsibility each person has to the community he lives in, Ken said, "Perhaps it's because I'm not yet a citizen and have no voting privileges that helps to make me realize how important it is for every individual to contribute something toward the betterment of his community." Ken does his part.

Since joining the Jaycees, Ken has been active on many projects. He was Director of Youth Activities and Chairman of Fine Arts. He has served on the Leadership Training Committee and gave great assistance to the TOYM luncheon talk on what an advertising agency does will agree that Ken is an effective and polished speaker.

Ken is an avid bridge fan and student of the U. S. Civil War. Someday he expects to make a tour through the South, inspecting battlefields and monuments.

Because of that "T" in his name, Ken avoided any direct comparisons between the U. S. and England. However, he did indicate a high regard for our high standard of living. He also mentioned the greater candor and brusqueness of the American people. Ken has caught on fast though and now can roll quite easily with some of the peculiar behaviorisms of "typical Americans."

Ken is not married. He says he has had a few offers, but just hasn't had the time. Well! Well!

The Dayton Jaycees take great pleasure in saluting Ken Hurst. We hope his stay in Dayton will be long and rewarding.

- 1) The true purpose of our worldly existence is NOT what it seems—ie, making a living or even ruling a country. This are peripheral to the main purpose.
- 2) ~~The main purpose~~
It is more true that the main purpose is how we treat and react to ~~each other~~ ^{one} another. This is unimportant.
- 3) But.... the real purpose of this plane is a MENTAL one. How we react within our minds, to people, to events. This is what it's all about. The rest is window-dressing, a passing charade. ~~Its~~ Its whole purpose is merely to provide a backdrop, scenery before which our mental activities can project themselves. It is unimportant in itself.

6) Like attracts like. (i.e. positive thinking)

① Life is a thought. The past, even yesterday, is a thought. The future, even tomorrow, is a thought. So how can the present (tomorrow's past and yesterday's future) be any different? It too must be a thought.

② Our physical surroundings are created mentally by the thought(s) of "God."

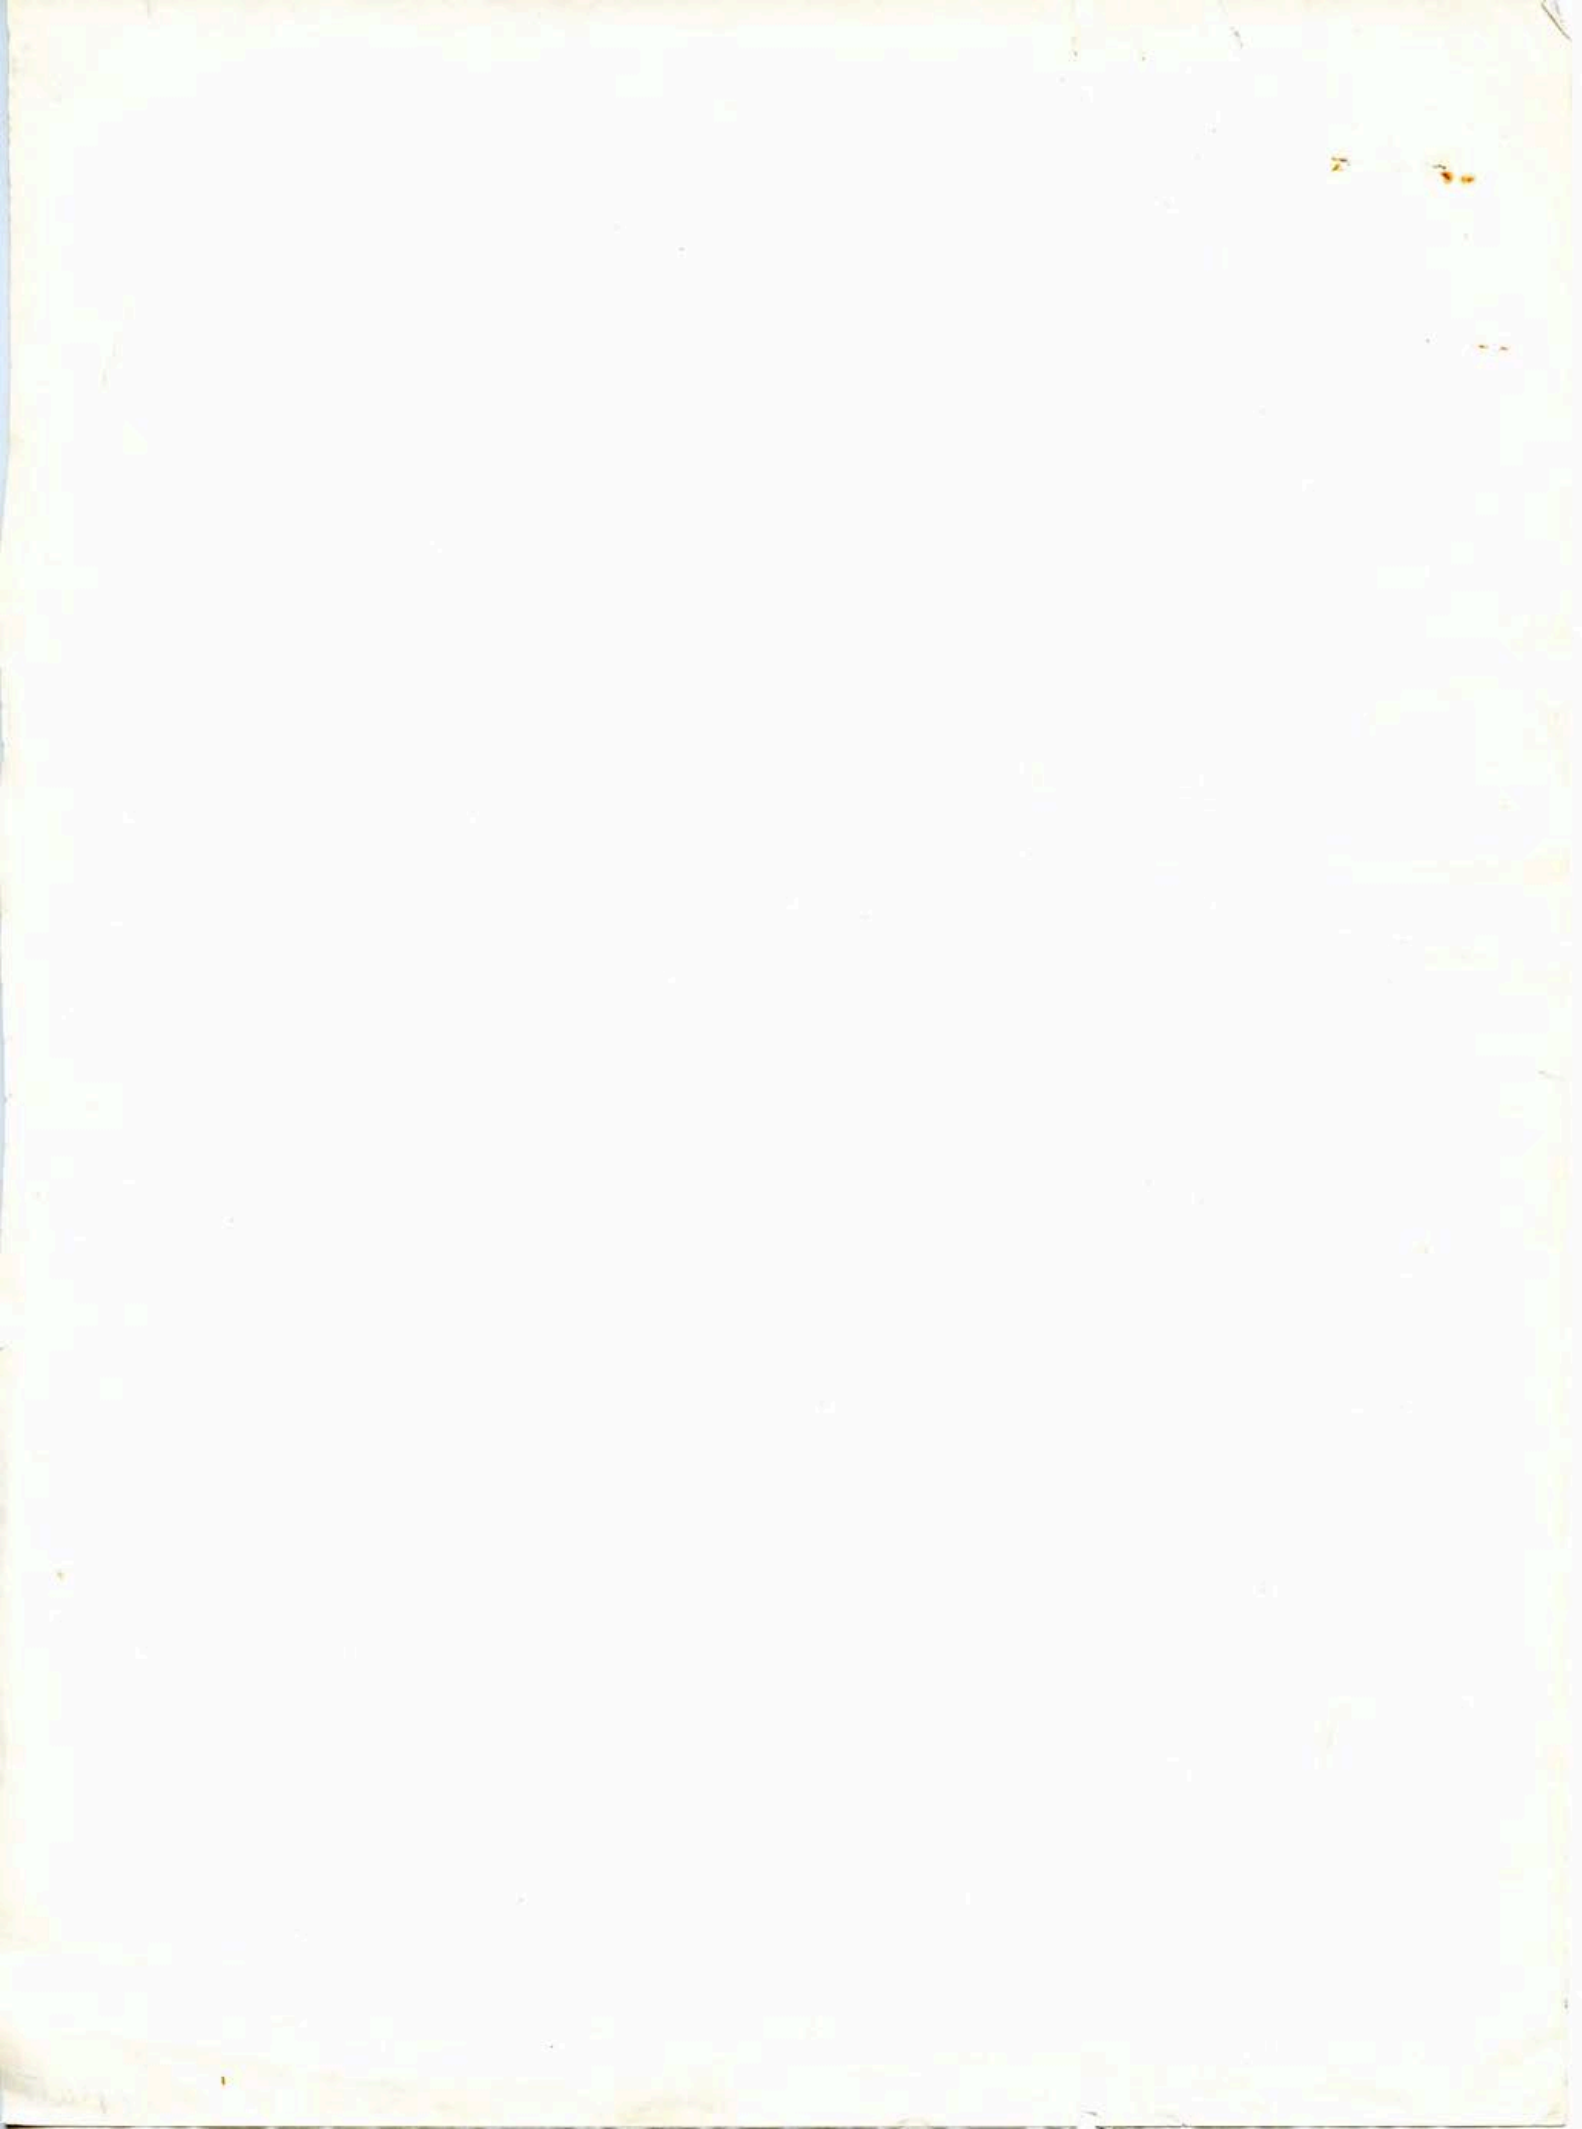

So too in a smaller way, since we are made of the same "mindstuff" and we can have the power to think, to use our minds to create — to imagine stories, etc.

We can affect ourselves and our immediate surroundings, etc, by our power of thoughts.

⑤ The life force pours into us, and it takes the shape of the thought pattern we ourselves create.
